FRAME Board Meets in Montreal

The Montreal Museum of Fine Arts (MMFA) hosted the FRAME board meeting on April 8th, 2015. The MMFA was a wonderful venue because it let the FRAME board and staff admire Marvels and Mirages of Orientalism: Benjamin-Constant and his time, a current FRAME exhibition, previously presented at the Musée des Augustins in Toulouse, Fr. Hélène David, Minister of Culture and Communications in Quebec, Bruno Clerc, Consul general of France in Montreal, Hélène David-Weill, and Michel de la Chenelière also attended dinner hosted by the MMFA. The FRAME board discussed the by-laws, a redesigned logo, and the future of FRAME, including the importance of education and how all three missions, Exhibitions, Education, and Professional Exchanges, are intertwined.

David Liot appointed Director of the museums and heritage of Dijon

The question on everyone's mind during the annual meeting of FRAME in Dijon during November 2014 was, who will succeed Sophie Jugie¹, now at the Louvre, as the director of the Dijon Museum of Fine Arts? As of April 1st, 2015, David Liot, conservateur général du patrimoine, took the helm of the institution as the Directeur des musées et du patrimoine de Dijon (Director of the Museums and Heritage of Dijon).

Michael Conforti, director of The Clark to retire

After 20 successful years at the Sterling and Francine Clark Art Institute, Michael Conforti will retire on August 15th, 2015. FRAME would like to thank him for his contributions to the FRAME network since its beginnings.

The Clark participated in exhibitions such as Bonjour Monsieur Courbet! and Medieval Mystery: Who is the Master of the Embroidered Foliage?

The Clark has also been very active in FRAME Education. Ronna Tulgan Ostheimer has been encouraged to create unique programs that have made ClarkArt a leader in their community.

FRAME wishes Michael best of luck for his future projects.

Ronna Tulgan Ostheimer rewarded by ICOM-CECA

On April 8th, 2015, the Committee for Education and Cultural Action (CECA) of the International Council of Museums recognized Ronna Tulgan Ostheimer, Director of Adult, School and Community Programs at the Sterling and Francine Clark Art Institute in Williamstown, MA and Education Advisor for FRAME, for the Responding to Art Involves Self Expression (RAISE) program.

Developed in 2006 with the Berkshire County, MA Juvenile Courts, RAISE is an alternative sentencing model intended for young offenders based on education and self-awareness rather than punishment. Through gallery visits, discussions, and writing exercises, young participants share a human experience which aims to show them their own abilities to help them to reconsider their lives in a more positive way. Please read more.

In 2009, this innovative program was adapted by the museums of Marseille and the Musée Fabre of Montpellier. An exemplary model of cooperation within the FRAME network, "RAISE" became "Talking Art" and was supported by the Annenberg Foundation and the Embassy of the United States of America in France. For more information please read here and here.

RAISE is one of the five projects selected by the jury of the CECA Best Practice Award 2015. FRAME congratulates warmly Ronna Tulgan Ostheimer for her inspired and bright vision of museum education!
Museum Spotlight: Musées de Rouen

The city of Rouen has many different museums; three of which, le Musée des Beaux-Arts, le Musée de la Céramique, and le Musée Le Secq des Tournelles, are members of FRAME.
